U. S. FLAYS ITALY

Zog and Queen Flee to Greece

WAR STORIES, PICTURES, PAGES 2, 4, 6, 7, 14, 15

Zog and Army Routed—Trained by Britons, Albanian troops are shown as they were inspected by white-uniformed King Zog . . . before Italian forces invaded the kingdom and captured the capital, Tirana, today.

Princess Missing—As Italians swept over Albania, two of King Zog's three sisters found haven with his Queen in Saloniki, Greece . . . with no word yet received of the safety of Princess Maxhide (above).

ITALIANS OCCUPY TIRANA

Zog's Capital Is Looted As He Flees Into Greece

TIRANA, April 8 (AP)—Fascist Italy's fast-flying troops occupied this capital of Albania without hostile manifestation today after a night of terror and disorder that attended the rout of her proud little army of mountaineers and the flight of her king to Greece.

The advance column of Italians rolled in from the coast, 25 miles away, about 24 hours after the Italian advance began, against the bitter resistance of poorly-equipped Albanians fighting for their independence.

It was 9:30 a. m. (3:30 a. m. Boston time) when the first Italian soldiers—bersagliere on motorcycles, their faces and uniforms grey with dust—entered the capital.

EXTRA U. S. FLAYS ITALIAN INVASION

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—Secretary Hull in a statement approved by President Roosevelt said today "the forcible and violent invasion of Albania is unquestionably an additional threat to the peace of the world."

The invasion, Hull said, "violates the will of all peoples in the world that their governments shall lead them, not toward war, but along paths of peace."

The state secretary condemned Italy's action after consulting with the President by telephone. The Chief Executive is in Warm Springs, Ga.

Hull said President Roosevelt agreed the statement should be made.

The secretary indicated belief, without expressing a definite opinion, that Italy had violated the Kellogg anti-war pact, signed both by Italy and Albania. He referred a questioner at his press conference to the phrase "forcible and violent invasion" at the outset of his statement.

Hull indicated further that an arms embargo against Italy, under the neutrality act, was under discussion by this government's officials but said such a move had not been considered officially at length thus far.

The United States not long ago condemned the use of force after recent crises resulting from action of Italy's totalitarian ally.

Albanians in the square before the government offices applauded them. A group of students carrying an Italian flag marched down the road to meet them.

The tricolor Italian flag also appeared on the city hall beside the red Albanian banner emblazoned with the black double eagle.

The Albanian army had retreated to the hills.

King Zog had left the city yesterday afternoon with a part of his government and was believed en route to Greece.

Previous reports had indicated the king with part of his government had removed to Elbasan, 25 miles south of Tirana. It was said he was arranging to defend the tortuous trails leading to this inaccessible retreat.

QUEEN IN GREECE

Queen Geraldine went to Greece yesterday with the crown prince who had been born just 43 hours before.

The Italian occupation came after a night of terror in Tirana as gendarmes fired continuously to scare off looters who earlier had sacked the royal palace.

The American colony was sheltered yesterday and last night by Minister Hugh G. Grant at the United States legation.

Italian bombers appeared again in the sky over Tirana shortly after dawn today and continued to fly low over the city as the troops entered.

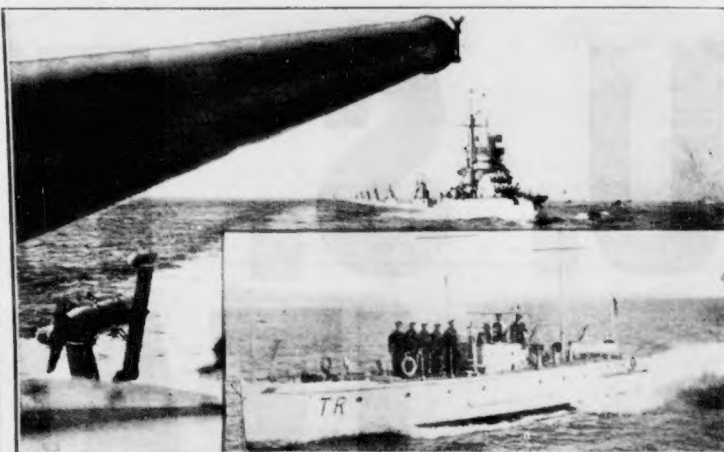

General Masse, commander of the column moving on Tirana, halted his force at the airport temporarily.

GREAT LEADER

The bersagliere were followed into Tirana by a tank corps which rumbled through the principal square. In front of the City Hall, General Muty, commander of the advance guard, was greeted by Albanian civil and religious authorities.

The Italians, better equipped and of larger numbers than the defenders, were in command of

4 SOVIET WARSHIPS RUSH TO BALKAN TROUBLE AREA

INSTANBUL, Turkey, April 8 (AP)—Four Soviet Russian destroyers steamed through the Bosphorus from the Black Sea last night en route to the Mediterranean.

The movement was interpreted in unofficial quarters here as indicating Russia's interest in the present situation in the Mediterranean and her determination not to be caught unawares by any developments following the Italian invasion of Albania.

Increasing alarm in the Balkan States over the possible intentions of the Rome-Berlin axis was seen in the hurried visit of Grigore Gafencu, Rumanian foreign minister, to Ankara, accompanied by the Turkish ambassador to Bucharest, arrived here today for urgent consultations with Sukru Saracoglu, Turkish foreign minister, on what steps members of the Balkan entente should take as a result of Italy's invasion of Albania.

The Rumanian came in a chartered steamer and was met by Saracoglu, the Rumanian ambassador to Ankara and high Turkish officials.

He began his consultations with Saracoglu immediately.

140 Albanians, 21 Italians Die In First Battles

ROME, April 8 (INS)—Only 21 Italian soldiers and sailors were killed yesterday when 11 Duce's forces seized the important Albanian coastal cities preparatory to driving against Tirana, it was reported in Rome today.

The Italian News Agency said nine Italian soldiers were killed and 53 wounded when Italians disembarked at Durazzo and Santi Quaranta.

Eight sailors were killed and 34 wounded and three infantrymen lost their lives and nine were wounded during operations at Durazzo after the landing.

One sailor was killed and 10 wounded at Santi Quaranta. Albanian casualties were listed as 150 killed and several hundred wounded.

PITTSBURGH, April 8 (AP)—Dr. Thomas S. Baker, president emeritus of the Carnegie Institute of Technology, is dead here, two weeks after his 68th birthday.

Chamberlain Speeds Home to Hold Parley

LONDON, April 8 (AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain will return to London tonight from Castle Forbes, Aberdeenshire, Scotland, to confer with his ministers on the Albanian situation, it was announced this afternoon.

Announcement of Chamberlain's return followed quickly an emergency meeting of the cabinet in London.

After weighing the implications of Italy's invasion of Albania, the ministers issued a formal statement declaring that the Albanian situation was "still obscure in regard to a number of important factors."

In informed quarters this statement was interpreted as indicating that the government had not decided to recall Parliament immediately, as had been demanded earlier by leaders of the opposition.

The statement issued from No. 10 Downing street after the cabinet session said it had been arranged "that ministers concerned should remain in or near London for the present" because of "obscurity" in the situation.

DENOUNCE INVASION

This was regarded in some quarters as an indication that the ministers at least had considered the possibility of further conferences over the week-end. Chamberlain listened in at the emergency session by telephone from Scotland.

Labor and Liberal leaders urged that Parliament be recalled immediately to consider proposals for dealing with the situation created by "shameful Italian invasion of Albania," which, they said, "constitutes a fresh and dangerous assault on the liberties of Europe by the axis powers."

'Voices in Praise' To Proclaim Easter

With the ending of Lent at noon today, Greater Boston churches prepared special services, colorful decorations and rich music to greet Easter Sunday, most triumphant day of the Christian year.

Final Holy Week ceremonies were held in the various churches, where the New Fire was lighted and Paschal candle blessed. Easter water was distributed among Catholics, while clergymen and parishioners alike joined to beautify their houses of worship with lilies, palms and flowers of spring.

Tomorrow, thousands of churchgoers will wear bright new clothing, symbolic of the season and the end of Lenten mourning. Thousands more will line the Commonwealth avenue mall to observe the traditional Easter parade, staged at the close of services in Trinity, Emmanuel and other Back Bay churches.

At Holy Cross Cathedral, Cardinal O'Connell will preside at 10 o'clock mass tomorrow.

commemorating Christ's resurrection.

In St. Peter's, Federico Cardinal Tedeschini, archpriest of the Basilica, struck sparks from flint to light the "new fire," symbolizing the resurrection.

Then he blessed the Pope's paschal candle, eight feet tall and three inches in diameter. This ceremony was followed by the Holy Saturday mass during which the blessing was bestowed with relics said to have been connected with Christ's passion and death.

In all of Rome's 400 churches organs, silent since Holy Thursday, poured forth their notes again. Altar candles were relighted and the mourning draperies of black and purple lifted from the holy images.

Priests wandered from one home to another to bestow the traditional Holy Saturday blessing. They visited each room, reciting a prayer and sprinkling the premises with holy water carried by an acolyte in a silver candelabrum.

communities from Castle Island to Mount Greylock will welcome the Easter festival.

South Boston Young People's Union will hold its annual Castle Island service at 5:30. President Howard Williams will have charge and the Rev. Louis West of the South Baptist Church will speak. Sunrise services at Parkman Bandstand on Boston Common will be held under the auspices of the local Christian Endeavor Union, beginning at 6 a. m., with the program broadcast by WEEL. Rev. Aaron Meekel, pastor of the Faneuil Congregational Church, Brighton, will be speaker. F. Stanley Reis of Ruggles Street Baptist Church the organist, and F. Carlton Booth of Providence guest soloist and song leader. The church choir will sing and there will be Easter music by a quartet of trumpeters.

C. E. SERVICES
Other services conducted by Christian Endeavor Unions will be held in Cambridge, at the Prospect Congregational Church; Somerville at Prospect Hill Park and Powder House; Milton Hill; Pine Hill, North Medford; Rag Rock, Woburn; Arnold Arboretum; Edgar's Hill, Waverley; Lynn, at the Washington St. Baptist Church; Municipal Stadium, Quincy; Great Hill, North Weymouth; D. Here's How Easter Shoppers Stormed Downtown Boston Today

CREW OF 29 SAFE AS BRITISH SHIP SINKS IN PACIFIC

QUILLAYUTE, Wash., April 8 (AP)—A coast guard crew brought 23 of the 29 men aboard the wrecked British freighter Temple Bar safely into this station today and reported the rest were "safe on the beach," after the freighter smashed hard against a rock just after dawn off the Washington coast.

The ship was called a "total loss."

The Temple Bar went aground near the Quillayute Needle, a rock a mile off shore and three miles south of the mouth of the Quillayute river.

It sent out an SOS before the crew abandoned ship.

The men walked up the beach to the station.

Eric Rauterstrom, coast guard boatswain's mate, said:

"Some of the crew had gotten ashore in their lifeboats and some were drifting near the wreck in lifeboats when we reached them."

"Some of the men were badly frightened and most are still too excited to talk much. The temple bar is lying now with her bow slightly out of water."

Lloyd's Register of Shipping listed the Temple Bar as of 4291 net tons, built in 1928 at Glasgow, Scotland, for the Steamship Company of London.

The Temple Bar touched Port Everglades, Fla., on March 14, en route to Kingston, Jamaica, and the Pacific Coast.

Late Easter Buying Rush Jams Stores

One of the biggest shopping crowds in history jammed downtown Boston today—bringing an early call for an extra police detail. Although clouds were in the sky today the weather man assured M'lady that no rain would fall tomorrow on her Easter finery.

It was a buying throng, carefree and happy, milling through the streets. The stores were filled, with the shoppers carrying their last minute purchases.

Buying turned to light and colorful spring ensembles as Boston prepared to shed its bulky winter clothing.

P. A. O'Connell, president of the retail trade board, reported the number of shoppers unusually large and that the volume of retail sales was pleasantly surprising.

For the Easter parade tomorrow there will be ensembles of bright yellow, green, purple and cranberry, and two-tones frocks of contrasting colors.

Short fur jackets and sheer plain wool frocks will be very popular as well as strictly tailored suits.

Shoes will be buckles and to-lose this Easter and will be made of the same leather as gloves, bags and other accessories.

DUCE'S 'CONQUEST' KEY TO LOCK BALKANS

Britain Expects Italians To 'See Out,' Quit Hitler

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1939)

LONDON, April 8.—Albania today is the dictators' contemptuous answer to the democracies. Informed opinion here holds it is disastrous.

"Every time you make a pact, we make a conquest," was the reply of Benito Mussolini and Adolf Hitler to Neville Chamberlain's Anglo-Polish pact—and this is the meaning of Italy's crushing invasion of the tiny Adriatic country.

By this move the axis has gone a long way toward nullifying the initially strong impression made by Britain's and Poland's promise mutually to defend each other.

BRITAIN DOES NOTHING

Diplomatic circles consider Italy once more has reassessed her claim and that she intends to stay in the axis, while Britain by doing nothing against aggression in the Mediterranean has reawakened the fears of all small nations that it would be better to capitulate to the dictators than depend upon the un dependable democracies.

Britain, however, declined to intervene because she still clings to the hope that eventually Mussolini can be detached from the axis.

Deep resentment is expressed here, first because Mussolini's coup disturbed several highly placed persons' week-end; second, because the "wretched Albanians" had the bad taste to fight back and thus render it more difficult to shrug off their conflict; and third, and most serious, because Mussolini is now making it almost impossible for Britain to continue to woo him.

The effective gains of the axis from the conquest of Albania are much greater than the dimensions of the country indicate.

WHAT IT MEANS

Military experts believe it is aimed primarily at Rumania. The Italian occupation of Albania immobilizes Rumania's allies in the Balkan center, Yugoslavia and Greece, and threatens Turkey. Thus Rumania is rendered much less capable of defending herself and Rumanian oil remains the greatest and most valuable prize for both Italy and Germany.

The Albanian coup has brought to the foreground of discussion whether Mussolini can possibly be weaned from Hitler, and the best informed circles in London now consider Chamberlain's efforts in that direction have become futile.

They have developed a fascinating new theory: Hitler deliberately incited Mussolini to make the Albanian move, hoping that somehow a general war would come therefrom. This because Hitler feels Mussolini can only be depended upon to stick with the axis if Italy goes to war with England or France and then calls for help from Germany.

BELIEVE DUCETS, SELL

Mussolini is believed here now to have shown his intention ready to go to war, but this still does not contradict the original British calculation that he intends eventually to sell out.

It is now estimated he will go to war because he can thereby raise the price to the highest conceivable level, and that after a few months of war he will consent to a separate peace for payment on order of Egypt, Palestine and Tunisia, which are the prizes Italy could otherwise obtain only by a complete victory over Britain and France.

British military intelligence reports of 30,000 Italian troops on the Dodecanese islands are considered a menace graver than the occupation of Albania.

The presence of these troops athwart the Aegean sea, with their possibility of blockading the Dardanelles, is taken as the first move to exclude the British fleet from

Zog Carries 400,000 Gold Francs in Exile

ROME, April 8 (INS)—King Zog, who fled to Greece from Epirus, a town about 35 miles from Albania's capital, is reported to be taking 400,000 francs in gold with him, and was said to be planning to meet his wife, Queen Geraldine, in Salonika.

entering the Black sea to go to the aid of Rumania, and to prevent Russian troop transports from getting out of the Black sea in case of a general war.

It likewise shows the axis' intention to force Turkey either to join the axis, remain neutral or be conquered.

Against this gloomy background emerges but one point of light, namely, that it is now believed the Albanian coup will satisfy the axis over this week-end, so there will not be any Easter bombardment of London.

Likewise it is now believed Hitler intends to celebrate his 50th birthday on April 20 before launching a new adventure, so Europe now anticipates 12 more days of peace.

Polish Throngs Hail Col. Beck on Return

WARSAW, April 8 (AP)—Colonel Joseph Beck, Polish foreign minister, received an enthusiastic greeting today upon his return to Poland from London, where he reached a mutual assistance agreement with Great Britain.

LIFE MUST GO ON for the British royal family even when war clouds gather over Europe, so King George and Queen Elizabeth take their daughter, Princess Elizabeth, to a London theater. It was a matinee in aid of the King George V pension fund for actors and actresses.

Geraldine, III in Greece, Hopes World Will Avenge Albania

LONDON, April 8 (AP)—Queen Geraldine of Albania prayed today that the world would be "shocked into action" by Italy's invasion of "my tragic little country."

The 23-year-old queen, who is of American-Hungarian parentage, fled into Greece yesterday just two days after she had given birth to a son and heir to the Albanian crown.

A Rome dispatch from Tirana reported King Zog also had fled to Greece, crossing the frontier at Koritza and apparently heading for Athens. Rome also reported that Queen Geraldine and her son were en route from Florina, Greece, to Salonika.)

TALKS TO GRANDMA

"I left my husband leading his troops—his poor, insignificant little army—into battle. What could Albania do against such armed might as that which ground down on us?"

In these words the queen began her own story of the flight from Tirana, the capital of Albania, to the Star, London evening newspaper.

The story came by telephone from Florina, Greek hamlet where the Queen sought temporary refuge with her new-born son, Skander.

Lying on a sickbed in a primitive village hotel in Florina, with Skander on an improvised cot beside her, the queen dictated her story to her grandmother, Madame D'Estrale D'Ekena, who repeated it over the telephone.

"I hope world public opinion is shocked into action by this invasion against my tragic little country," the queen said.

WANTED TO STAY

Here her grandmother took up the story:

"Queen Geraldine did not want to leave the capital. She pleaded with her husband to let her stay. She begged him to allow her to be by his side to face whatever providence should bring to their country."

"Only let me be with you," she said. "We can face anything together. But to go—not knowing what is happening to you... Not! No! Please let me remain!"

"The king was adamant. I know he would have liked nothing more than to have had her with him."

"But he ordered her to go. As war clouds were threatening the preparations were made.

"A fleet of cars stood ready in the palace courtyard. One was converted into an ambulance for the queen and little boy—heir to the throne that is so more."

"The baby was only a few hours old when we started on our journey. Guns had started to boom. The king gave the order to start."

"He told my granddaughter that it was for her safety and her safety only that he wished her to leave him."

"She was carried by stretcher from the palace. The baby was carried by a nurse."

"We were all of us in tears at the parting."

less than a year, mother of a crown prince for less than a week and now a fugitive from the guns of her husband's one-time ally, Geraldine of Albania was today the most luckless woman in all Europe.

A beautiful and idealistic girl of 22, she left her beloved Budapest, friends and relatives and gave up theatrical ambitions, to become the bride of the self-made King Zog.

She carried the illusion of youth and the resolution to be an "up-lifter" and reformer when she went to poor, backward Albania... determined to carry European culture to the most primitive people of the Balkans.

Zog, who fell in love with her photograph, was unknown to Geraldine, but he was king of his 1,600,000 peasant and shepherd subjects, a good-looking man in resplendent uniform and a front page personage and Geraldine was only 22.

She married him April 27, 1928, after having studied the country and language. There was a beautiful honeymoon villa on the romantic Adriatic at Durazzo, lovely wedding presents.

His heir's birth was extremely important to Zog, who had a reputation of possessing more enemies than any other man in the Balkans. These enemies were the relatives of men executed under Zog's iron rule... the price for "uniting" the tribes of his mountainous country.

Geraldine and her King might come to the United States if she could obtain a visa. She is the daughter of the former Gladys Virginia Stewart of New York. Obtaining the visa will not be easy as her mother lost her citizenship when she married the late Count Julius Apponyi.

Launch Destroyer Sims at Bath Today

BATH, Me., April 8 (AP)—Amid scenes reminiscent of World War shipbuilding boom days, the navy's newest destroyer, the 1570-ton U. S. S. Sims, was ready for launching here at 4 p. m. today.

Refuting Slaying Confession, Leduc Admits 'Seeing Red'

PROVIDENCE, April 8—After repudiating an alleged confession, Elmer Leduc, 19, of Woonsocket, resumed the stand today to reiterate that he had signed "some paper," concerning the slaying of his 74-year-old grandmother, to escape "police persecution."

Talk of "saving money to buy a pardon" and "signing a paper so everything would be all right" flowed from the lips of the accused youth as he testified concerning the confession police charge he made in the murder of Mrs. Anna M. Baker.

Leduc told the court he "had seen red" when his grandmother had upbraided him in her Pine street apartment. He said she had called his mother "a liar and a thief" and that he then remembered nothing until he found himself on the floor with blood on his hand. He testified:

"I washed up at the sink and went out. I walked around the streets. I had a headache. I put my hands in my pockets and found money, a watch and a few things from a pocketbook."

Young Leduc said that before leaving for New York by bus, he threw away a powderpuff, a mirror and a handkerchief.

Leduc described his visit to New York and from there to Swainboro, Ga., where he gave himself up to the fire chief in the belief the latter was a police officer trailing him.

Testifying about the return journey in custody of Detectives Louis F. Madden and William F. Purcell, the defendant said:

"The detectives advised me not to get lawyers. They told me to have my mother save her money to buy a pardon."

Leduc said that on his arrival at Providence police headquarters he answered what he thought the detectives wanted him to answer.

"If I would make a statement to Rattigan (Commander Thomas F. Rattigan of the detective bureau) wanted it everything would be all right," he said.

"We have plenty of ways of making people talk but we don't want to do anything to you," he quoted Commander Rattigan as saying. He said Rattigan promised that if he would confess he would be given a drink of water and permitted to see his mother.

"This way I felt then, I didn't care what I said," Leduc testified. "I wasn't telling the truth. I was afraid if I told the truth they would beat me. I knew they did those things." He added that he did not read his five-page "confession" before signing it. "I made believe I read it," the witness said.

Coast Guard Ships, Planes Hunt Trio Missing at Sea

By sea and air, coast guardsmen today hunted three missing seamen, one off Nantucket Island and two off Portland, Me.

Rev. Martin E. Fahy, Actors' Friend, Dies

TUXEDO PARK, N. Y., April 8 (AP)—The Rev. Martin E. Fahy, 55, former chaplain and treasurer of the Catholic Actors Guild, was dead here today after a long illness.

He held the actors guild post for 11 years while assistant priest in a New York City parish.

A cutter and licket boats sped over a large area off Nantucket in a search for Carol Johnson, unreported since he set out Thursday from Tuxedo park in an 18-foot sailing dory.

HUNT IN CHOPPY SEA
Coast guardsmen from the Mid-diket shore station called for additional aid after a fruitless all-night search in rough seas.

At the same time, the cutter Cayuga and the plane from the Salem air base scanned miles of Maine coast for Kenneth Trask and Ira Degraese, missing from Portland for 36 hours.

The Salem plane rejoined the hunt at daybreak after the Cayuga had covered miles of choppy water in search of the fishing boat Frankie B and her two-man crew.

TWO BOYS RESCUED
In Boston, two South Boston boys were recovering from exposure and cold suffered in a battle with waves in the outer harbor, rescued from their leaking dory by officers of the police boat Michael H. Crowley. They are James Scott and Edward Nee, both of East Third street.

Two U. S. Department of Commerce lighthouse inspectors, taken out to inspect a Weymouth harbor buoy by Harbor Master Anthony Veador, were stranded on the buoy nearly three hours when Veador's launch ran out of gasoline.

Veador managed to row ashore and walked two miles to notify the coast guard. Meanwhile, a Boston Tow Boat Company tug rescued the pair.

Remove 6-Foot Stick From Eye of Boy, 8

Struck in the left eye by a six-foot stick, Paul C. Kleir, eight, of Saywood street, South Boston, was reported recovering today after emergency treatment at City Hospital.

Police said the boy was playing in his cellar and ran against the pole, which stuck in the corner of his eye. Fearing to extract the stick, police carried the boy to the hospital, where it was removed without injury to the eye.

HUNT R.I. MURDER SUSPECT IN TWO CITIES NEAR HUB

Homes in two Greater Boston cities were watched by police today as authorities in eight eastern states searched for Ciriaco Minichelli, 42, of Lincoln, R. I., charged in a warrant as murderer of Joseph Cournoyer, a rival gasoline station operator.

Rhode Island state police, near whose barracks the fatal shooting of Cournoyer occurred, reported Minichelli had relatives in the vicinity of Boston.

In a teletype warning, they said the wanted man was believed to be heavily armed.

Using blood hounds, Rhode Island officers resumed a search of the woods in Lincoln, near the Louisaquisset Pike filling station, where Cournoyer was found slugged and shot in tow truck.

At Woonsocket, Dr. C. Wallace Bohrer, state toxicologist, and Dr. Edward L. Myers, medical examiner performing an autopsy on the victim's body, found three bullet wounds in the head and evidences of slugging.

Cournoyer was dead on arrival at Woonsocket Hospital, where he was rushed after being found in the tow truck by Edward J. Dyballa of Orchard st., who stopped at the filling station for gasoline.

Early in the search, troopers found a gun, believed to have been that used in the slaying.

Fuel Strike Near As Parley Fails

Strike of 3000 fuel truck drivers in Greater Boston loomed today following inability of representatives of the Coal and Oil Chauffeurs and Helpers Union and company owners to reach agreement at a State House conference.

State labor officials announced that the two factions had apparently agreed to extend negotiations beyond the strike deadline, set for next Monday, until April 13, when representatives of the oil truckers, led by Henry E. Klejher, the union business agent, stalked out of the meeting.

Only hope of averting the strike now rests in a mass meeting of union truck drivers which will be held tomorrow, at which the union group may decide by popular vote to agree to the seven-day moratorium.

Slugged, Robbed By Taxi Bandits

Four men, leaping from a taxicab at Washington street and Massachusetts avenue, South End, slugged Richard Johnson, 36, of Union park, South End, and robbed him of $24 today, he told police.

The lining of Johnson's coat was torn out during the brief struggle. He said his assailants fled in the waiting cab.

LAST HONORS PAID AIR CRASH VICTIMS

With appropriate military observances, funeral services were held today for three of the four naval reserve fliers who crashed to death during exercises at the launching of the airplane carrier Wasp at Quincy.

Funeral services for a fourth victim, Cadet Ellsworth Benson of Newton, were held yesterday. His body will be taken for burial Monday at National Cemetery, Arlington, Va.

The Rev. Richard Beasley officiated at services for Lieutenant Commander Waldo H. Brown at St. Michael's Episcopal Church in Milton. A military escort of fellow fliers from Squantum escorted the body to the Milton Cemetery.

The funeral of Carpenter's Mate Walter Kirk of Wollaston were held earlier at Crosby's funeral home, Roxbury, followed by burial at Woodlawn Cemetery, where a flight of navy ships draped in tribute overhead.

Triplets Wait Double Holiday In Waltham

The Burgoine triplets of Waltham were so excited today they could hardly stand still while their mother, Mrs. Jane Hedington Burgoine, put final touches on their Easter wardrobes.

For tomorrow will be a double holiday for Pauline, Georgine and Geraldine, the three look-alike sisters.

It'll be Easter Sunday—and their third birthday!

Three times three candles will adorn their birthday party cakes. And each triplet will have three big, long-lasting lollipops, as a special treat.

Lollipops are the No. 1 luxury item on the diet of the sisters. Their family doctor okays the candy ration—after meals!

Obediently but none too patiently, the triplets submitted to Easter dress fittings. But they had their reward when their mother allowed them to pose in their new spring bonnets and pretty flowered frocks for a Boston Evening American cameraman.

Like most of the rest of us, the three sisters can't even remember their first birthday.

And they were too young to get much fun out of their second birthday party a year ago.

But tomorrow—now that they're three years old and practically grown up—well, they're going to celebrate!

U. S. STAND IN CRISIS DEBATED

WASHINGTON, April 8 (AP)—The administration debated today whether to call Mussolini's attention to his apparent violation of the Kellogg Anti-War Pact, signed by both Italy and the nation he has invaded, Albania.

In view of action taken by this government several weeks ago, following Hitler's seizure of Czechoslovakia, it was thought likely that some effort would be made to demonstrate the administration's opposition to the invasion of Albania.

Secretary of State Hull kept in close touch with President Roosevelt, communicating to him by telephone the latest news from a half dozen European capitals. Mr. Roosevelt is vacationing in Warm Springs, Ga.

F. R. Keeps in Close Touch With Europe

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., April 8 (AP)—President Roosevelt gave over the last full day of his spring trip to Georgia today to watching the explosive developments in Europe.

As on yesterday when he talked frequently by telephone with the State Department after Italy had moved in on Albania across the Adriatic, he planned to stay close to his Pine Mountain cottage to receive all available reports.

Except for a press conference he had no engagements for the day.

ITALY COUP GIVES TERROR TO JEWS

By KARL H. VON WEIGAND

Chief European Correspondent of the Hearst Newspapers
(Special wireless dispatch to Boston Evening American)

MUNICH, April 8.—This is the tensest Easter week-end Europe has seen in many years. The gravity of the situation is largely attributed by the Germans to what they call the emergence of Great Britain as "Germany's Enemy Number One."

Developments of the last few days have given tremendous impetus to the German-Italian alliance which is now in active preparation.

The Jews in Germany and Poland are terrified by the appalling prospects of war. They recall Hitler's warning in his Reichstag speech January 30 that European war might mean extermination of large sections of that race. The Nazis now declare that if war comes the Jews of England and America will be responsible.

BRITISH HATE GROWS

There are 3,250,000 Jews in Poland, about ten per cent of the total population, but they constitute 52 per cent of those engaged in business, 42 per cent of the nation's craftsmen, 53 per cent of all the doctors and 75 per cent of all the lawyers.

Whipped by propaganda news in both countries Anglo-German hostility is growing at a dangerous pace following Prime Minister Chamberlain's announcement of a new British policy with a defensive alliance with Poland. The German charge is a revival of the pre-war "einkreisung," encirclement of Germany.

The foundation of the German-Italian alliance for military cooperation was laid at Innsbruck, where, on orders from Hitler and Mussolini, General Keitel, chief of the German high command, met General Pariani, Mussolini's right-hand man, and held a three day's discussion.

WITH HITLER'S O. K.

The proposed alliance contemplates fullest diplomatic and military co-operation between Germany and Italy on a general joint policy, more particularly on precisely the outlines agreed upon as to objectives as a result of the Keitel-Pariani conference, which had to do especially with Italy's occupation of Albania. That action has Hitler's full support.

It is stated in authoritative German quarters that, since no alliance was actually signed by Chamberlain and Beck in London, the affair amounts to "merely words."

Hitler and Mussolini have put off signing their military alliance. Hitler may announce his decision when he leaves his mountain retreat.

Mussolini's invasion of Albania is the first counter-move against Chamberlain and Beck which, it is understood, may be followed soon by an important Hitler move.

CHAMBERLAIN'S ERROR

The approaching accord between Germany and Italy dissipates talk of discord on the Berlin-Rome axis.

The manner and form of Chamberlain's action against Germany was unfortunate, if not clumsy. One of the highest generals in the German army said to me:

"The German army no more than the German people wants war with England or any other country, but the attempt of Britain to revive 'einkreisung' will find Germany's fighting forces on land and sea and air in spirit, morale and equipment, ready to back up the Fuehrer to the last soldier to meet that issue.

"And let me add that the fate of the British empire no less than the fate of the German Reich will hang in the balance in such a war if England decides that war it shall be."

the principal points along the 17-mile coast.

Durazzo, San Giovanni di Medua, and Valona were heavily damaged by naval bombardments and aerial bombings before Italian occupation. Santi Quaranta, another coastal city, also was in Italian hands.

But Albania, smallest country in the Balkans, served notice on her mighty neighbor that she was prepared to fight until her last man was dead, and then mobilize her women.

Former Premier Medhi Frasheri addressed the nation by radio: "There are 45,000,000 Italians against 1,000,000 Albanians, but there will be heroic resistance, and when our men are dead the Italian will have to face our women."

He telegraphed to Premier Mussolini:

"We prefer death to dishonor."

Hint Hub Bishop May Advance Rule Albania

"Little Albania," in Boston's South End, saw today in the invasion of their homeland and the flight of King Zog before the advancing Italians a strong probability of Bishop Fan Noli's return to power.

Bishop Noli, one-time ruler of Albania, who now lives in Blagden street, Back Bay, announced he would declare his intentions and have a statement to make later in the day.

The bishop, leader of the Christian faction in Albania—including about 30,000 followers in the United States—went into seclusion after making this announcement.

DENOUNCES DICTATORS

His power is such that he might return to the premiership from which he was ousted by the Mohammedan King Zog, or even be recalled to be king of his country, his supporters in Boston said.

Meanwhile Albanian leaders here expressed indignation, as well as sorrow, over the plight of their tiny nation, despite the fact they consider Zog as an usurper.

New Nazi Drive on Pole Pact

By PIERRE J. HUSS

BERLIN, April 8.—Strong pressure on Poland to nullify results of Foreign Minister Beck's talks in London was seen as an early measure today after Germany gave unqualified approval of Italian seizure of Albania.

The initial move in Hitler's campaign to smash the Anglo-Polish alliance came when Foreign Minister von Ribbentrop, in a talk with Polish Ambassador Lipski, indicated:

"The door to friendly relations between Germany and Poland is not shut entirely—but it is not wide open, either."

This was interpreted as meaning the Reich will watch for a time to see if Beck will "regret" abandonment of the products of his London conference and reverse his refusal to consider Germany's demands on Poland. The points on which Germany fully wished to negotiate were the return of Danzig, readjustment of Pomerania (Polish corridor) and guarantee of more favorable treatment for the German minority in Poland.

For the Easter tide, however, it was evident Hitler plans no dramatic move.

He went walking at his mountain chalet at Berchtesgaden. He told his staff and key men to enjoy a full Easter vacation. His intention to remain at his mountain home until his 50th birthday, April 20, has not changed.

Moreover, according to direct telephonic advices from Berchtesgaden, Field Marshal Goerring is staying in Libya, and Propaganda Minister Goebbels, who has been traveling about the eastern Mediterranean, will not hasten back from Greece.

'The COLONEL' in Monday's RECORD

It is with great pleasure that the Boston Record announces the addition of our old friend Dave Egan, nationally known sports columnist, to the Record staff.

Expert on racing—expert on football—expert on baseball—Dave combines a tremendous knowledge of sports with the ability to tell it in so interesting and entertaining a manner that he has earned the title of "The Ring Lardner of Boston." You'll like the way he "calls his shots."

DON'T MISS IT!

"Since when did you strike gold," says Bill

"I ain't had no such luck," says I. "At least not the way you mean. But Ephie and I been takin' in tourists lately. Right nice folk, too. We treated 'em right, and they been comin' back for more. They paid us enough for room and board so we could take care of the mortgage and settle our bill with Doc White. Maybe these New England vacation visitors is a gold mine after all."

Over the cracker barrel, many a true word is spoken. For every year, some 5,000,000 tourists come to New England, leaving a golden trail of dollars behind them. These tourists' dollars increase employment, help pay taxes, and add to the wealth of the community. So whether you work in a bank or a hotel, a retail store or a gas station, you benefit from New England's big recreational industry.

In 1939 New England is faced with a challenge—and an opportunity. More than two million of our own people will go to the New York World's Fair, taking wealth away from this area. But from North, South, and West millions more will be coming from distant points to our very doorstep to visit the Fair in New York. If we can bring these people on to New England for their vacations, 1939 will be a prosperous year for New England. What can you do to help? Support the New England Council, your state development commission, and your community in their efforts to promote the tourist industry. Support your local Woman's Club, which has undertaken to raise a penny for every man, woman, and child in your community, to bring more vacationists to New England. Buy the New England World's Fair Exhibit stamps—and stick them on every letter going to friends outside New England. (The proceeds from the sale of these stamps will go to promote New England, too.)

All history proves that an aroused New England can accomplish miracles. Won't you do your share—now?

How to Be Beautiful—Glamorous
Thrills in 'First Aide to Murder'

True 'American Tragedy' Analyzed
More About 'The Boston Strong Boy'

How to Get Paul Whiteman Recordings
And All the News and Sports Parade

By GEORGE LEWIS

YOU CAN be beautiful—and glamorous, too. You can acquire the charm of such distinguished women as the Duchess of Windsor, Lady Charles Cavendish, Mrs. Harrison Williams, Countess Montgomery and the exotic Princess Karam of Kapurthala.

This is the assurance of Dr. Gayleford Hauser, international authority on beauty and recent Boston visitor.

Tomorrow, in the Boston Sunday Advertiser, Dr. Hauser shows the way to physical perfection and tells how the joy of really living is well within the reach of every woman.

Not so long ago a famous European society favorite paid $1000 for this information.

Tomorrow you receive it FREE. It awaits you in your Sunday Advertiser's GREEN MAGAZINE.

ANOTHER TREAT is Dashiell Hammett's new novel, "First Aide to Murder." Here you will find all the thrills and amusement of "The Thin Man," the book that won the author world-wide acclaim.

"First Aide to Murder" concerns two jealous persons who are plotting to kill a young bride.

You will find the story new and refreshingly different.

Lady Cavendish

Duchess of Windsor

THE AMERICAN TRAGEDY—that was the name they gave to Worcester County's murder mystery, for it closely followed the theme of Dreiser's far-famed novel.

This crime interested Fred Perkins, who believes truth can be stranger than fiction and for years has striven to prove it.

That is his aim as he presents little-known facts about Sutton's "American Tragedy" in tomorrow's Green Magazine.

OF COURSE, you are reading "Midas in Petticoats" George W. Clarke's brilliantly written story of Hetty Greene. All New England enjoys this Advertiser feature.

Now, you're going to learn how the money-loving Hetty sought to train her children to follow in her footsteps, how she planned and schemed to make them the mental images of herself.

AUSTEN LAKE continues his biography of the great John L. Sullivan. Tomorrow brings the really important chapter. It has to do with the late champion's character. Not so much the way he appeared to those who knew him in public, but the way he acted to those few persons who could be called his close friends.

PAUL WHITEMAN requires no introduction. Every American and Advertiser reader recognizes him as the great band leader. You are no exception.

What does require an introduction is the fact that Paul Whiteman is sending autographed phonograph recordings to Advertiser readers.

DID YOU KNOW that you can obtain an attractive young man to accompany your wife, mother or sister to social events? You can.

Miss Marjorie McBride, one of your Advertiser's star reporters, engaged the services of one of these escorts this week. Of course, she didn't tell him that she intended to write about the things he said.

That is why you derive many laughs and not a little information from her story tomorrow.

REGISTRAR GOODWIN "takes back" tomorrow. You'll admire his courage. We guarantee it.

The registrar, as you will remember, was severely rebuked by district court judges this week. They called him a "dictator" and implied that he was assuming far too much authority.

WHAT'S THE MATTER with justice in Massachusetts? What is the situation attorneys discuss among themselves, but seldom talk about in public?

You will find the answers to those important questions tomorrow, when you read the straight-from-the-shoulder story by Chief Justice F. Delano Putnam of Boston Municipal court.

ALL THE NEWS about Easter awaits you in your Advertiser, of course. All the important observances, church services, municipal celebrations and sports events. To read these stories is really to share the gladness that the holy morn brings to Christendom.

THE SPORTS PARADE is better than ever. You will surely say this tomorrow. Bill Grimes voices expert opinion regarding the Bruins' chances of beating Toronto. John Gillooly brings "inside information" from the Bruins' camp.

Bob Quinn weighs the Bees' prospects for the approaching season. Boetonian or New Englander, you would not think of neglecting the facts he reveals to Jack Conway.

THE LORD'S PRAYER in rare old pictures! This is the American Weekly's important contribution to Easter. Never before have these works of art appeared in a newspaper or magazine.

Another outstanding feature you will not want to miss is Dr. F. E. Free's American Weekly story, "The Plan to Make the Mediterranean Sea an Inland Lake." Can it be done? It can. Dr. Free proves it.

4 CITIES HUNT CLUE TO LOST 2

Police of four cities worked today to piece together details of the five-day absence of Raymond and Lionel Bernier, Salem men who disappeared Saturday night and reappeared, injured, after both were feared to be victims of robbers.

Though not related, the two Berniers were friends and were last seen together in a Salem bowling alley Saturday night.

Twelve hours later, their blood-stained automobile was recovered in Lynn. The mirror was broken, windshield cracked, and an empty gun holster was found inside.

Police of the Warren Avenue station picked up Raymond Bernier in the South End, apparently an amnesia victim and suffering from a large head bruise. A few hours later Lionel Bernier, hurt into a Chelsea filling station with blood streaming from a gunshot wound in his left arm.

Because of statements one of the pair had made, Salem police said today the two men had made at least one trip to see the New York World's Fair. Lionel, under treatment for his wound at Chelsea Memorial Hospital, first told of being held up by a bandit.

City Marshal John Harkins of Salem said statements by Raymond told with certain details revealed by Lionel, that the pair took a room in the Chelsea Hotel, between their excursions to New York.

A .32-caliber gun which police believe to be the weapon that wounded Lionel Bernier, was found on Persons Beach, Chelsea, by Patrolman Harry Whitten today and turned over to ballistics for examination.

Surgeons at Chelsea Memorial Hospital also removed a lead slug of .32-caliber size from Bernier's arm.

Fear U. S. Girl Slain By Cuban Smugglers

HAVANA, April 8 (INS)—Cuban police today were investigating the possibility that the decapitated and mutilated body of a girl found here March 8 might have been that of Kay Gallagher of Miami, Fla.

Officers said Miss Gallagher could not be located in Cuba. Police reported she had been seen in company of "suspicious characters" and expressed the theory she may have been slain because she had knowledge of drug smuggling activities.

BROTHER SHOTS ME. PHYSICIAN, KILLS SELF

BIDDEFORD, Me., April 8—Shot three times in the head and arm by his only brother, who later was said by police to have killed himself, Dr. Roscoe C. Upham, 54, lay in Webber Hospital today in critical condition from loss of blood.

According to police, Oden Upham, 49, came to Biddeford from his Caribou home, burst into the doctor's office and shot him, apparently for no reason.

Dr. Upham's wife and three children were eating supper at the time and heard no sound of an argument or shooting.

Leaving his brother unconscious, Oden Upham then entered the Upham home and went upstairs to a bathroom, where he put a re-

Slaying Defendant, Jury Free in Recess

For one of the few times on record, members of a Suffolk County murder case jury, today went to their own homes for the weekend—pledged not to discuss evidence already before them in the trial of George T. Knox, former state trooper.

CHIEF'S SON FACING TRIAL IN SLAYING

John R. Maloney, 22, son of Police Chief John Maloney of Milford, stood indicted by the Norfolk county grand jury today on a charge of manslaughter arising from the death of John O'Neil, 74-year-old inmate of the Medfield State Hospital, where young Maloney was a guard.

The youth is alleged to have kicked the aged man several times in the abdomen, inflicting fatal injuries.

The indictment was among 70 true bills returned by the grand jury, which also returned two "no bills."

Peter Kogay, 37, of Quincy, was indicted on a charge of assault with intent to murder Dorothy MacDonald of Braintree. On March 5 Kogay is alleged to have leaped from behind a tree in a lonely section of Braintree and fired two shots at Miss MacDonald, one striking her in the right forearm.

Two Brockton youths, Andrew J. Polakowski and Albert J. Zannetti, and a third youth who is a juvenile, were indicted on seven counts charging them with safe breaks in Quincy, Braintree and Randolph.

The grand jury returned "no bills" against Joseph J. Thurston of Quincy, charged with breaking and entering, and Coleman J. Foley of Boston, charged with conspiracy to rob.

Knox, charged with the murder of Mrs. Helen Darrah Dale, attractive divorcee, likewise was free to go as he pleased, an unprecedented situation in a murder trial.

AGE-OLD QUERY

Before the weekend recess, jurors learned the contents of the note found sewed in the lingerie of the dead divorcee. It contained an age-old query as to the meaning of life.

Discovered by Prosecutor Edward F. Sullivan the previous day as he displayed the garment to the jury, the note was introduced as evidence shortly before court was adjourned at noon by Judge Louis Goldberg because of Good Friday.

"All my life I wanted to know about everything," the note read. "Why are we born? Why do we die? What causes tuberculosis, cancer, disease?"

"Why, why, why can't anyone tell me, or must I go on thinking and try to answer myself? I know that it is within me to try to do something to help. Why doesn't someone want to help those who want to help others?" The note concluded: "Out-fashed but sure. Sincerely yours, Helen M. Dale."

A second note, which it was previously testified was found under a tablecover in Knox's Commonwealth ave. apartment where Mrs. Dale was fatally shot two years ago, was also introduced.

QUIZ SEIBOLDT

It read: "If you really think I can take assault and battery you are quite mistaken. You will be punished as far as possible by law by me, Helen Dale."

Neither of the missives bore an address, and were introduced after Prosecutor Sullivan had objected to the offering of the note found in the underwear by Defense Counsel James McGrail. An agreement was reached at a bench conference.

Sergeant Edward J. Seiboldt, police ballistic expert, who was again on the stand, testified under cross-examination that he found two other bullet holes in the living room of the Knox apartment, in addition to that made by the missile that took the life of Mrs. Dale.

Both of these, the witness said, were in the southerly wall on the side next to apartment 53, one bullet hole being on a level with his eyes and the second about two feet from the floor.

Asked if they were fresh bullet holes, Seiboldt said that in his opinion they had been made some time prior to the shooting of Mrs. Dale, as the plaster exposed around their edges was solid. He said only one shot had been fired from Knox service revolver.

CORNELIA OTIS SKINNER

ter Monday evening in "The Lady Has a Heart."

Playing violin to Miss Laine's countess will be Judson Laire. Mr. Moore is directing. There will be three matinees at the Plymouth during the engagement of this popular priced engagement on Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday. The $1 tops seats and provided through the remainder of the season.

She will be seen in the title role of the favorite Shaw domestic comedy. Orsonow Stevens, stage and screen star and John Cromwell, recently starred on Broadway in "Bright Rebel," the two plays, have the chief male roles.

Donatello's Santa, famous for her fierce and imperious countenance, is the right-nipped, preternaturally "who secretly loves" Shirell portrayed by Stevens and reminds his playful devotion to his wife.

Philip Faversham, son of the former mistress, had been seen as Lexy Mill, the cutale, who aids Morell in his parish affairs.

BELL'S LIFE, RICH IN DRAMA, MADE FILM 'A NATURAL

When Darryl F. Zanuck began preparation for the screenplay of "The Story of Alexander Graham Bell," which was scheduled to be released from the 20th Century Fox studios in 1940, director Kenneth MacLean and scenarist Lamar Trotti found themselves faced by a unique problem.

Usually it is a headlining and a part-breaking book to get a lot of interest. I want to stretch through six or seven books of feature film. That when it came to the fascinating biography of Bell the question was one of selection, for it was necessary to pick and choose which of many eventful moments crowding the inventor's life should be included in the feature.

One episode shows Watson, Bell's assistant, over tightening a screw and thus making contact with a musical spring. In anger he plucked at the spring and, to the surprise of both men, the full tone and overtone were heard by Bell at the other end of the wire.

So the hero of Cosmopolitan's production discovered the secret of the undulating current.

The other dramatic accident was when Bel spoiled burning oil over himself and, forgetting that Watson was on another floor of his home here in Boston, cried out: "Mr. Watson, come here. I want you!"

News Film Predicted Crisis in Albania

Just as last year's "The Albanians" was a surprise, so will this year's "The Albanians: A Nation Shaking." Most of the News Film forecasts predict a revolution in Albania.

It really points up the nature of our society and the nature of the country and sets forth the future of the world. The film is being shown in all of the regular program of shorts at newsreels.

100 in Cast of Revue
On Columbia Stage

THE 100th anniversary of the birth of the American musical is being celebrated on the Columbia stage with a new production of "The 100th Anniversary Musical Revue." The show, which is being presented by the Columbia Musical Theatre Company, features a cast of 100 performers, including many of the company's most talented actors and actresses. The revue is a collection of songs and dances from various musicals, including "The Sound of Music," "The Music Man," and "The Producers." The show is being presented at the Columbia Theatre, which is located in the heart of New York City. The production is being directed by the company's artistic director, who is a well-known figure in the musical theatre world. The show is expected to be a major success, and it is hoped that it will help to celebrate the 100th anniversary of the American musical in a fitting manner.

HOW THE MITE AND MIGHTY HOLD I

Key Man?

PREMIER MUSSOLINI

Stealing the thunder of the war gods from Adolf Hitler, Premier Mussolini has shaken all Europe again with his invasion of Albania. The world awaits the outcome. In the meantime, the tiny country of Albania shudders—the King and Queen flee, and new history is in the making. Will it be another European conflagration? Time will tell.

You Can be Beautiful

Gypsy Soul!

By ARLINE GOULD

THEY TOOK the name of an enchanting queen of the gypsies—a flashing, fiery person who matched so perfectly the storminess of gypsy music... and gave it to a brand new type of nail polishes, whose basic color is a blazing red, and the only fit accompaniment to any of the flamboyant inspired fashions!

That's the idea, the idea of it all—that basic, intense, flaming red—presented in a new type of nail polish as an artistic, and, to the most important, a practical, known fact, is a color which is just for the day, and does not have to be changed for many days. It is a color which is just for the day, and does not have to be changed for many days. It is a color which is just for the day, and does not have to be changed for many days.

To learn about this new type of flaming red nail polishes, phone Arline Gould, Liberty 4000, weekdays until five thirty, or write, including a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

ANYONE who never tends to let nail, except to manicure them, has only herself to blame if they begin to break and sneer at the nicest, newest polishes being for them! Cuticle massage with oil is just Wynona's trick. There are many fine preparations which will strengthen them, so they can proudly display the glamorous nail polish Arline Gould describes today.

For Tomorrow's Easter Dinner

By MARTHA LEE

Last minute suggestions are in order for the preparation of tomorrow's dinner. So, while there's still time to dash out to the store for the makings, we'll give as many recipes as possible.

For special Easter parties, we suggest those quicky made, but colorful, Easter eggs, made of pea halves, filled with nippy cheese filling and tinted in all the lovely pastel colors with a special food coloring. Peas pass the test of a moist mustard.

Dilute the color in clear water and either roll the halves of peas in it before you stuff, or brush the color in with a paint brush after they are stuffed. Make enough. Easter eggs are that each guest has a few. Serve them in the green past of the dinner plate and pass mayonnaise to serve with them. This takes the place of a salad in the meal if you like.

EASTER MENU

Crabmeat Cocktail
Baked Ham with Pear "Easter Eggs"
Mashed Sweet or Irish Potatoes
Buttered Asparagus
Gelatin Ring Mold Fruit Salad

Filled with Seedless Grapes and Royal Anna Cherries
Hot Macaroni Butter
Ice Cream Pie
Coffee

PEAR "EASTER EGGS"

Mix 5 oz. glass of Cheddar or Roquefort cheese spread with 1/2 cup finely chopped celery, 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard and cream to moisten. Fill cavities of 6 pea halves and top with 6 additional halves. Round small end of pea to resemble egg shapes. Tint pea pink, green, yellow, with diluted fruit coloring. Next in parsley or watercress. Serve one pear with each ham serving.

GRAPEFRUIT SALAD, CHEESE

2 cups fresh or canned grapefruit sections
Lettuce or other greens
1/2 teaspoon paprika
1/2 cup French dressing
1/2 cup cottage cheese

APPROXIMATELY 100 CALORIES on lettuce or other greens. Add paprika to French dressing and shake well. Just before serving stir in the cottage cheese and pour over the grapefruit. Serves 6.

CREAM OF OYSTER AND PEA SOUP

3 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon chopped onion
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup oyster liquid
1/2 cup peas
1/2 cup cream
Dash of pepper

Melt 1 tablespoon of the butter in the top of a double boiler placed directly over the heat. Add the onion, cook over low heat for about 5 minutes or until soft, stirring occasionally. Add the chopped oysters and 1/2 cup of oyster liquid and cook for 2 or 3 minutes. Add the flour mixed with the remaining 2 tablespoons of melted butter and cook over hot water, stirring constantly until thickened. Add the peas, peas, liquid from peas, milk, salt and pepper. Heat and serve.

GLAZED CARROTS

Cook 10 to 12 small carrots in boiling, salted water until tender. Drain and pour a shallow layer of butter and sugar. Pour sauce over carrots and bake in hot oven (400 deg. F.) for 25 to 30 minutes. Make sauce as follows:

1/2 cup water, boiling
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup cornstarch
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup sugar

Combine cornstarch, sugar and salt. Stir into boiling water and cook about 10 minutes, stirring constantly. Add lemon juice and butter.

- 1—"I'M SHOT." Red Hamill seems to be saying as camera catches him during Bruins practice.
- 2—IRON LUNG? No, just Dit Clapper having Trainer Frank Jones baking a kink out of his back.
- 3—TOMORROW'S HERO? Ray Gelliffe, speedy young Bruin forward, who is ready for game of life against Leafs.

There must be a scarcity of tickets for tomorrow night's game . . . Even the Garden box office men have been unable to get enough paste boards to take care of their friends . . . The Bruins and the Maple Leafs held light workouts today at the Garden.

The Leafs must be early rising this morning, too, they practice at 10 o'clock.

New York has been practicing along the edge of the pond. It is said the Leafs are not doing as well as the Bruins. The Leafs are not doing as well as the Bruins. The Leafs are not doing as well as the Bruins.

King Clancy

Frank Jones, the Bruins' trainer, is the hero of the hour. He has been working hard to get the Bruins ready for the game. He has been working hard to get the Bruins ready for the game.

Although they are only young stars, Stafford and Glen found Europe last summer . . . Connie Smythe archrival Gordie Drillon was a super star.

They tell me that Syl Apps can't miss being elected to the Canadian Parliament . . . But they also say that he's too honest to be a stand-out politician . . . Eddie Powers is hiding his time visiting old friends . . . Bill MacFadden and Ed Hickey, directors of the Toronto Maple Leafs Gardens, arrived today . . . The Bruins were in a very jovial mood for they figure that if they can beat Toronto playing the artsy side of hockey they did on Thursday that it won't be long now . . .

You'd be surprised at the amount of fan mail Red Horner receives from local devotees of the game . . .

He'd be the fair haired boy if he wore a Boston uniform . . .

But Clapper and Pats, powers who were pointers here for many years, were in a big, huddle. They were talking to the boys. They were talking to the boys. They were talking to the boys.

The second Boston team must go for another "frisking" tomorrow night. The Bruins of the low classed season, some of the reserve seat consultants who are the more malicious than the galleys.

They'd have even done business if they'd searched the press box before the last Ranger game . . . But they'll wait their time if they go through the scrums tomorrow night . . .

Joe Primeau, the old Maple Leaf center, was disappointed because he could not make the trip . . .

Bobby Bauer has been going around with his hat pulled down over his eyes and his coat collar turned up since he scored that winning goal on Thursday night . . .

Although he has kept himself well in check since he joined the Bruins, I understand that Jack Crawford has a demon "one two" punch.

Joe Primeau

When the Bruins and the Maple Leafs clash in the second game of the Stanley Cup series tomorrow night at the Boston Garden, the fans will be treated to a thrilling entertainment, for the world's championship title may hinge on the outcome.

The Bruins are determined to win. They are determined to win. They are determined to win. They are determined to win. They are determined to win.

They don't believe that Toronto is good enough to carry them that far and they will be cut to prove their contention tomorrow night.

Of course, a win is a win but it doesn't mean as much in a final game of seven series as it did when the Stanley Cup was decided over the two out of three and the three out of five routes.

Naturally the Bruins feel that they have established an edge over the Leafs. And now they expect to win two straight after which they figure it will be just a question of time.

CONNIE SMYTHE Opposes 7-Game Series

wearing the Maple Leafs down. Connie Smythe is one of the few N. H. players who in favor of four out of seven.

"Seven games are too many," declared Smythe. "If the Bruins beat my club three straight, I'll be fully convinced that they are the better club."

"It isn't difficult for me to figure out why the Bruins were obliged to go seven games to beat Rangers, after winning the first three."

"The team suffered a let down and why shouldn't it?"

"The Bruins went out and took three in a row from Rangers. They realized that they were the better club so they started to coast. Rangers in order to avoid the disgrace of going out in straight games in a long series became inspired during that fourth game in New York and came up with a win.

"Even then, the Rossamen probably continued to dream about the finals, and therefore were unable to get their minds off their work. And, they didn't snap out of their mental stupor until they discovered that the Rangers had evened out the series."

UP TO CALDER

"And, to my way of thinking it was then, and not during the first three games the Bruins showed that they are a real hockey club."

"After they had put back a three game lead the Bruins certainly showed that they have what it takes, when they come through with a victory."

"I would say that the present Bruins is the greatest this I've ever seen but I will admit that it is the best that the N. H. has boasted of at present."

But don't misunderstand me, the Stanley Cup is not back in Boston yet. Maybe it landed this way but it may really be over for Fred Frank Calder to make delivery.

Fox-Gainer Bout Tops Fistic Card

There are two boxing bouts scheduled for our fair city next week.

The first is the Irish American A. A. amateur pageant Monday night at the Arena, where the second of a series of four Diamond Ring trials will be held.

The second is Eddie Mack's show, featuring Tiger Jack Fox and Al Gainer, at Mechanic's.

Vernon Cormier, Hall Tuesday night.

A third was scheduled at the Garden next Friday, featuring Lou Ambers and Honey Melody, but owing to a death in Ambers' family the bout has been postponed.

Such classy performers as Howard Dunderdale, New England all-America 126-pound champion, and Gene Richchard, former New England all-America 147-pound champion and Bill Burlingham of Providence, Rhode Island, welter champion, are among the long list of entrants in the amateur show.

Four full hours of fighting are promised.

Eddie Mack has a sure-fire slugging carnival on lap Tuesday night. Tiger Jack Fox and Al Gainer are established favorites in this city, and rank with the best light heavies in the game.

Paired in the second ten are Buster Carroll, Lowell, and Young Byron, Roxbury. Carroll lost a stirring ten-rounder to the Cocoa Kid in his last start at the Garden, but he fought a draw with Ralph Zampanelli in Worcester. He's one of New England's leading welterers.

In the third Johnny Cabello, who made a distinctive hit last night at the Garden, is paired with Ralph Zampanelli in Worcester. He's one of New England's leading welterers.

In the opening ten, flashy little Vernon Cormier of Worcester takes on the Connecticut feather champion, Snooks Lacey.

Pro Golfers On Soap Box

The New England Professional Golfers' Association, will hold its sixth annual dinner at the Hotel Somerset, next Monday night with a long list of golf celebrities scheduled to address the gathering.

Among those listed to create are C. Campbell Patton, president of the Massachusetts Golf Association, Ed Dudley, vice-president of the Professional Golfers' Association, Fred Wright, Bay State amateur champion, Wilfred Crossley, New England amateur champion, Kenneth McCall, representing the Rhode Island Association, Robert Pryde of Connecticut, Raynor Gardner of the New England Association, John Counsel, president of the Greenkeepers' Association, Jesse Guilford and Charles Hartley.

Strafci Sets Pace in Golf Tilt

PINEHURST, N. C., April 6 (AP).—Bobby Dunkelberger, a par-shooting strapping from High Point, N. C., and Frank Strafci of Brooklyn, N. Y., defending champion, won the places for the 36-hole title round tomorrow in the North and South Amateur Golf Tournament.

JACK STAFFORD, proprietor of Huntington Alleys, shows pictures of Miah J. Murray championship teams to Walter R. Kirk.

Presentation Leaders In Cathedral 10-Mile Race

Six plodders who were among the first ten in the Presentation run last Saturday, face the starter's gun this afternoon in the 29th annual Cathedral Club 10-mile road race, starting at the club house on Union Park street and winding through the South End and South Boston, back to the club house.

The six are Ray Eland, who finished third; Gene Kelley, Newton, Y. 7th; Dick Cleveland, Reading, 4th; Ralph Holland, Dorchester, 5th; Bob McGilone, Norfolk club, 9th, and Hawk Zamparelli, Medford, 10th.

Zamparelli, who has always finished well up in the Cathedral run, has been placed on scratch.

Twice he has won the time prize in this event—in 35 and 36.

The following are the list of entries for the race:

PROS GIVE SMASHING CLIMAX TO ANNUAL PIN TOURNEY

By WALTER KILEY

A smashing finale to a great tournament is on today's docket as the fourth annual Boston Evening American-Daily Record candlepin bowling championships ring down the curtain at the Huntington Club scene of action.

Some 100 of the greatest professional bowlers in New England took the mark in quest of the highly prized and valuable men's "Open" singles title tonight.

Every big name in candlepin circles will be on the firing line names synonymous with the growth and popularity of the pin pastime.

Some $500 of prize money waits for these superstars to win. The 1939 champion awaits the victor.

At the same time the women's "Open" singles field tee off, although the field will be far smaller in numbers, albeit as capable in high scoring ability.

The Men will stage five strings in a qualifying round. Top half of the field will then bowl another five strings in the semi-finals with the field again to be cut in halves, the best returning a week later, on Saturday, April 15, to take up the matter of the championship proper over the 10 strings route.

Much high scoring damage was inflicted in Friday's semi-final day, 12th of the 13 days of competition.

The Boston Anagrams, famous feminine outfit, hit 1500 to take a place in the world record throne room, just 42 pins more than their previous world mark established one year ago.

Next was the showing of the Andrew Jackson Associates of Steve Powell's Seville Alleys, East Boston. The North Shore team, in their fourth title attempt, came through handsomely with a team total of 1445 pins to take over the first place spotlight in the amateur competition with the previous leaders, the Eagle Alleys Women's Five of Roxbury, relegated to runners-up with their Thursday score of 1419 pins.

Star of the Andrew Jackson's was 58-year-old Mrs. Mae Orstein, gray-haired, lively and sparkling grandmother of eight, whose three strings of 296 included strings of 108 and 109, with only one string of 79 to mar the superb performance.

Behind her were her much more youthful teammates, Loretta Welch with 292, Chris Willis with 286, Kay Doherty with 285 and Thelma Lobbins with 288.

The Anagrams bowled in brilliant fashion to carve out their world achievement, greatest women's effort in all candlepin annals.

Pretty Olive Chase led the procession, the left-handed blonde hitting a remarkable total of 240, with strings of 105-133-102. She was followed by both Captain Ruth Weebacher and Mae O'Neil, each of whom carded 324. Jeannette Kilgus came home with 297 pins and Alice Doyle followed with 275.

The Morning Glories of Charlestown came into their own thanks to such superlative efforts of Denny Donovan and Paul Pochler who combined to bat out a total of 1111 pins and first place and the probable tops in the professional decalies.

Danny, one of the greatest all-round athletes in Irish history, one of the outstanding hurlers, weight throwers, soccer and football stars ever to cross the Atlantic, hit 552 despite the weight of his 64 years. Paul Pochler, one of New England's great champions, aided Danny with 558 for the pace-setting total.

FIRST BASE THREAT? Never figured in the contention for the Bees' first base job, with Buddy Hansett and Elbie Fletcher on the job, Max West has been making serious passes at the position of late. He might sneak in there, too, if he keeps powdering the ball.

South Loses Prestige As 'Home of Players'

By JOE CASHMAN

GREENSBORO, N. C., April 8.—The Georgia-Carolina section through which the Red Sox and Reds have been and still are traveling is a mecca for big league scouts.

According to the ivory hunters, there's more tender diamond timber to the square mile in this territory than anywhere else in the country.

But if the quantity of talent is greater in these parts, there's no proof that the quality is any better.

A good percentage of big leaguers may hail from the hamlets of the South and Southwest, but most of the headliners in the game today are natives of the North or Far West and, contrary to popular belief, more of this group were born in cities than on farms or prairies.

Take the Sox. Cronin, Doerr, Wilson, and Williams are West Coast products.

Joe Voornik, Moe Berg, Jim Hagby, Fred Ostermiller, Emerson Dickman, Gene Desautels, Louis Berger, Tommy Carey and

Fabian Gaffke were born in Northern cities.

Moss Grove, Jimmy Foxx, Denny Galehouse and Roger Cramer first saw the light of day above the Mason-Dixon line.

COAST FERTILE FIELD

The Reds have Berger, Lombardi, Barrett, Joost, Scarcella, Hershberger and Bordagaray from the West Coast.

"Whitey" Moore, Gene Schott, Gene Thompson, Johnny Vander Meer, "Bucky" Walters, Linus Frey, Frank McCormick and Billy Myers are Northerners.

The only outstanding Bees who don't come from the North or Far West are Lou Pette, Johnny Lanning, Milt Shofner, Jim Turner, Al Lopez, Johnny Hill, Debbs Garms and Jim Outlaw.

It's interesting to note, too, that in the last World Series, none of the regular Yankees except Bill Dickey and none of the regular Cub fielders, save Carl Reynolds, were victims of the deep South or Panhandle.

Some great stars have come out of this neck of the woods. Ty Cobb, the greatest of 'em all, grew up in Georgia.

B's, Senators In Two Day Series

By JACK CONWAY

ORLANDO, Fla., April 8.—The Bees have games with the Senators here today and tomorrow, after which they move to Savannah, Ga., for the first big step North.

Casey Stengel is satisfied with his pitching and hitting, but would like to see better fielding. Stengel attributes some of the poor fielding to the watched conditions of the sand baseball fields in Florida.

The games with the Senators will furnish the Bees with an opportunity to bat against good pitching. Bucky Harris has his Washington finger in fine condition, and they have been instructed to cut loose in the clashes against the Bees.

The Bees pitchers will also be obliged to bear down against the Senators, who have a flock of heavy hitters.

There is a possibility that the Bees may train here next season. Bob Quinn has discussed the matter with the local authorities.

There is a baseball field adjoining the one used by the Senators. In the event of games, the club in action could use the field that has the grandstand. If the Bees come here, it is likely that most of their contests will be played against the Senators.

There is also some talk of the Bees going to California in 1940, but Bob Quinn wants certain guarantees before taking such a long hop from home.

Three Caseys On Garden Card

There will be three Casey brothers on next Thursday's wrestling card at the Garden.

Steve Casey will defend his world title against Marvin Westenberg, ex-Shadow. Brother Jim will face Pat Kelley, and Tom will mix with Heinie Olson.

The Shadow defeated Steve Casey in their first meeting, then lost to Sonnenberg. Casey defeated Sonny, and now Steve and the ex-shadow will go at it again

Tommy Leach Rates Greatest Batters

Says Bees Have Improved Club

ORLANDO, FLA., April 8.—Tommy Leach, a star with the Pirates and Cubs and now a Bees' scout, believes Casey Stengel has an improved ball club.

"Stengel now has some players who can hit," said Leach as he watched the Bees tune up for a clash with the Washington Senators. "Last year Debs Garms was the only .300 hitter on the club. It looks as if the Bees will have three or four fellows who can hit for .300 this season."

"One reason the Red Sox have done so well is because they have batters. The same holds true for the Yankees."

I asked Leach who was the greatest hitter he had ever seen.

"RUTH WAS an amazing slugger. He was one of the few great hitters who would take his eye off the ball once the pitcher went into action. Batters are always schooled to keep their eyes on the ball at all times."

"When the pitcher would let the ball go, Ruth would swing backwards, and as he would do so his eyes would be off the ball. While coming forward on his swing Ruth would pick up the ball in mid air and often knock it out of the ball park. Babe had amazing eyesight. Otherwise he could not have done what he did."

"I used to get a kick out of the way Ruth would often point to a particular fence and then knock the ball over it. There was the day in Chicago when the fans were taking the Babe for

"CHANCE," said Leach, "always believed in making a pitcher work. He would instruct us to take two strikes before swinging at a ball. This is why we got so many bases on balls, and why pitchers opposing the Cubs often cracked up late in the game. The pitchers were often exhausted as a result of being obliged to pitch to every batter."

"This is why there is so much difference between working on the mound in batting practice and appearing in a regular game. The other day one of the Bees pitchers told me he wasn't the least bit tired after tossing them up to the squad for three rounds."

"He didn't realize that the batter usually hit at the first ball,

"EVERY PLAYER on the club is in there trying to win all of the time," said Tommy. "I am also pleased to see the oldtimers trying to help the youngsters. This proves more than anything else that the club has the proper spirit."

"I believe the Bees have a good chance to finish in the first division. The Reds and Cardinals have improved string in this year, and will also make strong bids for high first division spots."

"If Carl Hubbell gets into condition, the Giants must be reckoned with. The Cubs are having their troubles with Dick Bartell,

"Ed Delahanty was the class of the field," was the quick reply. "I would then place Larry Lajoie, Honus Wagner, Babe Ruth and Ty Cobb in that order. They never would have got Delahanty out with the lively ball."

"I only saw Joe Jackson play once, but from what they tell me, he was a great hitter."

"Lajoie and Wagner could pick the spots for their hits. They could drop the agate in any field."

"I do not believe there ever was a ball player who had more color and crowd appeal than Ruth."

Leach went to the Cubs from the Pirates in the days when Frank Chance was known as the "Fearless Leader." Chicago had the famous double-play combination of "Finkler to Evers to Chance."

It is doubtful if there ever was a baseball combination that equalled that one in the execution of double plays. It rated in its line as Lewis, Speaker and Hooper did when they composed the Red Sox outfield.

and even though he pitched to each man three times he did not throw as many balls as he would have done in a regular game."

Leach likes the batting of Ralph Hodgins, outfielder, and Sisti, young infielder.

"Both of these players always have their bats behind the ball," said Leach. "That is why they have been hitting so well in Florida. Many players hold their bats too far to the front, and also keep jiggling their bats around. The result is that the ball is often past them before they can get their hat into position to hit." The spirit of the Bees appeals to Leach.

and will lose strength if the veteran is unable to start the season at shortstop.

"Pie Traynor says the Pirates will be over the jitters this year, and will go places. Speaking of Pittsburgh reminds me of Fred Clarke. In picking an All-Time, All-Star team one cannot very well overlook Clarke. He could do about everything right on the baseball field."

Miller made a sensational vest pocket catch, while Hodgins drove a ball against the center field fence. "It certainly looks as if the Bees have got something this year," said Leach.

Olympics Close Tonight

The Boston Olympics, which have consistently broken attendance records this season, close a most successful campaign tonight against the Valleyfield Braves at the Garden.

The Braves are Provincial League champions and have defeated the Boston clan five times in six starts this winter.

They handed the Pies their worst defeat of the season on their last trip here, but the Pies turned right around and routed them the very next day.

Five of the Braves will be making their last appearance as amateurs. They are Johnny Laetle, gvaler, who is going with Canadiens; Bert Peer, Theo Hamel, Jo-Jo Grubowski and Jerry Philbin.

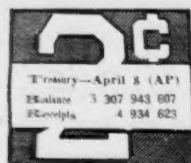

RUSS ALLEN

Ted Frazier, Olympic custodian, who had been ailing earlier in the week, will be in the Boston net tonight. Trainer Bill Lindsay announced today.
